The Seventh Olympiad

Athens, Paris, St. Louis, London, Stockholm—America champion always—and now Antwerp, with another opportunity of standing before the world as a nation not only pre-eminent in sport, but of doing its part in quickening the spirit of the Olympic Games, which is that of peace on earth, good will toward men to be accomplished by friendly competition with your fellows on the athletic field, rather than the bloody strife of conflict upon the field of battle.

What is worth doing at all, is worth doing well. To compete for fun may be fun, but to compete to win is not only fun, but accomplishment; and when the winning is bringing honor to one's country, the accomplishment becomes a triumph.

At the Seventh Olympiad at Antwerp, to be held during July and August of 1920, America must again lead the world, if not the combined forces of the world. And though be it that the great war has sapped the strength of many of the nations which will compete, there is yet time for the youth and manhood of England, Canada, Australasia, and South Africa; of France, of Italy, of Belgium and Holland to assert itself, let alone the present and increasing strength of the teams from the Scandinavian countries, already well trained and eager for the fray.

For America to succeed she must have, as always, men and money; athletes to the number of one hundred and fifty and more, and money to the amount of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($150,000) and more; all a voluntary contribution to the furtherance of world knowledge and world peace, through amateur sport. The athletes will give of their time and their skill for the glory of the contest and pride in their country, and the members of the American Olympic Committee of their funds because they are patrons and patriots.

Let every boy or man who can run or jump; let every marksman who can shoot pistol, rifle or gun; let every fencer who can use foil, duelling sword or sabre; let every swimmer who knows the back stroke, breast stroke or crawl, or who can do plain or fancy diving; let every foot ball man who can dodge, block and kick; let every oarsman who can use oars or sweep; let every tennis player who can swing a racket, and golf player who can drive and putt, gird up his loins and go into training for these world contests, for the benefit of himself and the glory of his country. Let every sportsman who loves sport for sport's sake; let every patriot who would see his country triumph, put his hand in his pocket and donate generously toward the expenses of America's participation in these games.

Thus with men and money will our great democracy be enabled to have its representatives again lead the athletes of the world in triumphant parade before a King and Queen of an old world monarchy. It is a victory worth striving for, an acclamation worth receiving, an honor worthy of every effort.

GUSTAVUS T. KIRBY,

President, American Olympic Committee.

PROF. WILLIAM M. SLOANE,
American Olympic Commissioner.

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC RECORDS

BY HARRY EATON STEWART, M.D.

New Haven Normal School of Gymnastics; Chairman National Women's Track Athletics Committee.

The effect of the war on sport in general lasted throughout the entire school year. There were fewer track meets held and fewer national records broken than in any year since 1915, but several of the schools improved their own records. The greatest year in the history of athletics has just been entered upon and it is certain that women's track athletics will reflect this revival of interest in all sport. Many schools are holding winter indoor meets and the committee hopes to publish next year the first official indoor records.

RULES FOR 1920.

By vote of the committee, the following rules and suggestions were adopted for this year:

1. RULES FOR COMPETITION.

(a) Standard Events—The following events only shall be considered standard, and records in them classified for comparison between schools: Runs—30, 50, 75, 100 and 220 yds. Hurdles—60 yds., four 2ft.; 60 yds., four 2 1-2ft.; 65 yds., six 2 1-2ft.; 100 yds., eight 2ft.; 100 yds., eight 2 1-2ft. Relay races, 4 runners—220 yds. and 440 yds. Jumps—Standing high and broad, running high, broad, and hop-step. Pole vault. Throws—Base ball, basket ball, hurl ball (6 lb.), javelin (Olympic Official), discus (Youth's Official). Shot put—6, 8 and 12 lbs.

(b) The "Amateur Athletic Union Track and Field Rules" shall be official for all events covered by them.

(c) The base ball, basket ball, hurl ball and discus shall all be thrown from an eight-foot circle and measured in the same way as the shot put.

2. SAFEGUARDS.

The committee earnestly recommends medical examination and close supervision of all track athletes, and the necessity for using extreme care in the construction of jumping pits and hurdles. The following two groups of events are suggestive of the types best suited to beginners and to the trained athlete.

Beginners' Group—30 and 75 yds. run, 60 yds. hurdles (four hurdles, 2ft. high), standing and running broad jumps, running hop-step and jump, base ball throw, basket ball throw.

Advanced Group—50 and 100 yds. run, 100 yds. hurdles (eight hurdles, 2ft. high), running high jump, 8-lb. shot put, discus, javelin or hurl ball throw (in addition to the above group).

The committee does not recommend the use of more strenuous events for women than those listed in the "advanced group."

A. E. F. CHAMPIONSHIPS, 1919

TRACK AND FIELD.

Track athletics attracted keen interest throughout the American Expeditionary Forces. Regimental, divisional, and area track and field championships were staged all over France, Luxembourg and the German Rhine Valley country. These were held under all sorts of weather conditions and on all sorts of fields; that is, all sorts except good. There was hardly a high-class field for fast running records in the whole A.E.F. area, Colombes alone excepted, and if there had been the early spring weather was miserable, not a clear, warm day being registered before May 1 anywhere in the northern part of France.

Many athletes in khaki there were whose previous performances were well enough known that they were early detached from their units and sent to Paris for special training at Colombes Field, although their status in the A.E.F. championships as representatives of their respective army areas was not affected, the men being returned for various area meets. As fast as others showed exceptional class they, too, were dispatched to the Colombes training camp, until the eve of the army track and field honors found upwards of 400 men ambitious for the glory of their unit and area, and winning a place on America's great army team in the Inter-Allied Games.

For the A.E.F. finals the weather was ideal and the three-day track classic at Colombes Stadium, near Paris, May 30-31 and June 1, was conducted under most favorable conditions. Thanks to the careful work of the trainers—H. W. Maloney of Stanford University, Joseph T. Pipal of Oregon Agricultural College and the Y.M.C.A., and Platt Adams, also of the Y.M.C.A., a former Olympic team man and a well-known New York A.C. jumper—the men rendered an excellent account of themselves. General Pershing honored the games with his presence on the last day. He presented the winning athletes with their medals of victory and made appropriate remarks expressing his pride and confidence in the American soldier athlete.

Many French enthusiasts were among the crowds that thronged to Colombes, more than half of the 10,000 the last day being French soldiers and civilians. They exhibited keen interest and the French newspapers expressed great astonishment at the performances, no less than eight French records being excelled by the A.E.F. athletes during the three days.

Lieutenant Alvah W. Richards, former Olympic team man, and Lieutenant E. Teschner were the individual stars, the former scoring two firsts, a second and a third, while Teschner not only captured both sprints in fast time but ran brilliantly in all three relays for his team, winner of all these events. Lieutenant Earl Eby also scored two wins, the quarter and the half. Fred Faller of the Boston A.A. won the modified Marathon—eight miles—in the good time of 48m. 16 2-5s. He led his field practically all the way and finished a full lap (about one-third mile) ahead of his nearest rival. The finals in each event follow:

100 YDS. RUN—10s., Teschner, Intermediate Section, won; Capt. Smith, Intermediate Section, second; Lever, Intermediate Section, third. 220 YDS. RUN—22 1-5s., Teschner, Intermediate Section, won; Nelson, Third Army,

The Chicago boy was on the offensive throughout and won the title because of this. FEATHERWEIGHT CLASS—Louis Frazee (Pittsburgh), Paris District, won from Elbert Fanning (Houston, Tex.), S.O.S. Base. Frazee and Fanning wrestled 30 minutes without a fall. LIGHTWEIGHT CLASS—John Vorres (Chicago), Second Army, won from Harland McManigal (Nebraska), Third Army, after 30 minutes of wrestling without a fall. WELTERWEIGHT CLASS—Pete Metropolis (Gary, Ind.), First Army, defeated Alex Kazan (Chicago), Third Army. Kazan started the match with a cracked rib and was forced to concede the title after the first fall, which Metropolis took with a painful body scissors in 9m. 45s. MIDDLEWEIGHT CLASS—Cal Farley (Minneapolis), Third Army, won from Walter O'Connor (Iowa), Second Army. Farley was unable to meet O'Connor in the final, due to an injured knee on which a large boil had developed. The latter refused to win the title in that way and offered to meet Farley under Army auspices as soon as his knee was in shape. In the postponed match, Farley won. LIGHT HEAVYWEIGHT CLASS—Ralph Parcaut (Royal, Iowa), Third Army, won from Bob Davis (Houston, Tex.), First Army. HEAVYWEIGHT CLASS—Charlie Rubel (Audubon, Iowa), Third Army, defeated James McIntosh (North Carolina), First Army, 5m. 19s.; 9m. 4s.

SWIMMING.

The A.E.F. swimming championships were held on June 5, 6 and 7, 1919, over the fresh waters of Lake St. James in the Bois de Boulogne. The meet did not produce any record breaking largely because events were conducted in heavy water. Hanley was the outstanding star of the meet, and his victories in the 1,500-meter free style and the 400-meter free style showed him to be one of the best swimmers in the A.E.F. His team mate, Bennet, ran him a close second for points scored, taking the 100-meter dash in good style from Gardner of the S.O.S. team and Mantell of the Paris District.

The entry in the meet was a large one and with the exception of the 1,500-meter event every race had to be run off in heats and a final. The heats for the most part produced close races and the finals roused the big crowds to rare enthusiasm. The 800-meter race was a remarkable affair, with Douglas, the winner, and Lang, the second man, both from the Third Army, contesting every inch of the distance; and it was not until the second last lap that Douglas gained the advantage which he eventually lengthened out until he won by a good margin. In the 1,500-meter race the Third Army was in a class by itself, as its long distance stars—Hanley, Lang and Brooks—took all three prizes in the event.

There was no official diving on the programme, but an exhibition by a number of the men proved a meritorious addition to the programme, with Sanville, American Embarkation Center, winning with 66 points and Spangler of the S.O.S. second with 49 points. The final results follow:

CHATEAU-THIERRY TO PARIS ROAD RACE.

The Chateau-Thierry to Paris relay race will always take its place at the head of long distance racing whenever this branch of sport is discussed. The race was the longest relay ever staged. It attracted the largest crowd that had witnessed an athletic event in the A.E.F., and as a climax it brought the Franco-American city of Chateau-Thierry closer to the American people.

Staged under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus and the A.E.F., the big classic attracted the attention of followers of athletics in every section of the A.E.F. In a great fight in which team work counted more than the individual work of any one man, the runners from the American Embarkation Center carried off the honors.

The details for the big race were outlined by Major Alexander Day Surles, head of track athletics in the A.E.F., and Owen A. Merrick of Portland, Ore., for the Knights of Columbus. The latter originated the idea for the Memorial Day event, also acting as chairman of the conducting committee. Major Surles is well known as an all-around athlete both at Michigan and West Point.

On Decoration Day, 1918, the American machine gunners were making an attack on Chateau-Thierry, shots sweeping the bridge, damaging the statue of Jean Fontaine. On Decoration Day, 1919, American runners stood at the foot of the statue of Fontaine near the battered bridge, waiting to carry a message to President Wilson, waiting in Paris more than sixty miles away.

It was befitting that the man who commanded the machine gun battalion a year before at Chateau Thierry should have been selected to frame the message to America's President. Colonel R. D. Briscoe, referee of the race, read the contents of the message to the athletes who awaited the starter's signal. Lawrence O. Murray started the runners on the long grind by waving an American flag.

More than 500,000 spectators followed the race from start to finish. When Matthew Lynch, the last runner on the A.E.C. team, reached the wide avenues of Paris, he was piloted by scores of policemen on bicycles. The Boulevard des Italiens, Rue Royal and the Place de la Concorde were packed when the first runner arrived, and when Lynch was presented with a laurel wreath by Brigadier-General W. W. Harts, Commander of the Paris District, thousands cheered the smiling winner. Bill Kennedy of the Paris team, hero of many Marathon runs, finished second. He was also given a big ovation.

Great credit was due Major C. C. Childs, chief athletic officer of the A.E.C., and Jim Shields of the Knights of Columbus, who coached the winning aggregation. Shields had made a great record in West Virginia, and continued this success during his track and field activities in France. Major Childs has always been an ardent devotee of athletics, having represented Yale, both on the field and on the gridiron.

In finishing the race in 5 hours 48 minutes 15 seconds, the A.E.C. team cut more than an hour off the time set for the average team. The Paris team finished in 6 hours 2 minutes 10 seconds, and the Third Army team was only three minutes behind the second team. Seven teams finished within the seven-hour limit. The following runners competed for the A.E.C.: Frank Meredith, George Cutter, W. Rapp, Stephen Federoff, John A. King, Frank A. Soldat, George Ramsey, Harry Mosier, Ernest H. Keefer, George Mazzucca, Alvin Wardes, Franklin Miller, George Guhl, V. Upham, John Berg, Winfield Angus, Frank Siebert, George Becker, Alexander Duncan, Matthew Lynch.

RHINE RELAY.

The Rhine relay race proved to be the big track feature for the men guarding the Rhine. More than two hundred runners, gathered from nearly every division in the Army of Occupation, competed in the race from Cochem to Coblenz, a distance of more than twenty-six miles. The long relay was the banner event of the big athletic carnival held at Coblenz in April.

Lieutenant-Colonel R. D. Johnson, athletic officer of the Third Army; Owen Merrick, Alex. McLean and Leo Lennon of the Knights of Columbus, with Captain H. K. Coulter, handled the details of the race. The big event was captured by the long distance runners of the 89th Division, Major Paul Withington, the former Harvard star, giving his team a lead on the first relay.

The 5th Division runners held the lead after the first three miles for more than fifteen miles, when Potter of the 89th passed Harmon of the 5th, and from that time on the 89th crew held the lead, Kendall winning out on the last relay by more than 300 yards. The teams finished the long race in the following order: 89th Division, 5th Division, 90th Division, 3d Division, Third Army Troops, 1st Division.

The members of the winning team were as follows: Major Withington, Smith, Clines, Rush, Edwards, Phillips, Jones, Francomb, Wild, Loftin, Jotris, Wilmoth, Andrews, Alvin, Yagubian, Kabo, Clapp, Faulkner, Washburn, Huive, Potter, Heinecke, Brewer, Webber, Eschenbaum, Kendall.

THE INTER-ALLIED GAMES COMMITTEE.

INTER-ALLIED GAMES, 1919

TRACK AND FIELD CHAMPIONSHIPS.

Held at Pershing Stadium, Paris, France, June 22 to July 6, 1919.

Official representatives of eighteen nations participating in the Inter-Allied Games, diplomats from many countries, forty thousand people of a most cosmopolitan collection in the stands and another twenty thousand outside clamoring to get inside—that tells the story of the attendance at the opening ceremonies of the inauguration of Pershing Stadium, Paris, on Sunday, June 22, 1919.

The parade of the French troops, followed by the American Dough-boys, this in turn followed by the entry of President Poincare of France accompanied by General Pershing, Minister of Marine Mons. Georges Leygues, U. S. Ambassador Wallace representing President Wilson, and other notables, opened a day of inauguration that, besides making history, unfolded into the most wonderful colorful spectacle that the world has ever seen on an athletic field.

Fifteen hundred athletes in uniform, representing sixteen nations and colonies, closely followed the entry of the troops. There were men in this collection of athletes who had won world fame in the last Olympic Games; there were men who had won honors for themselves in their respective army sports; but fully ninety per cent of the total who paraded around Pershing Stadium on this opening day were taking their initial step into international athletics.

Before a discussion on the competing athletes of the other nations, it is interesting to sum up the causes of America's victory in the Inter-Allied Games. It is not a study of sport or percentages. It is a problem in Americanism. Primarily American athletes possess the national trait of adaptability. Persistence in training and practice brings on the necessary form. A love of participation in athletics is perhaps the greatest cause of national success. In an empty lot in every town where live American boys, future track stars are holding back yard championships with a broom handle for the pole vault, a stone for the shot put. They are beginning the development of the form, first in the back yard, then in playgrounds, then at school and then college, which brings applause from Inter-Allied audiences.

Coupled with an intense desire to win is a deeply-grounded element of sportsmanship in the make-up of the American athlete. "May the best man win" is his motto, and then he sees to it that he is the best man.

To Jean Vermeulen of France belongs the honor of winning two Inter-Allied distance titles. Wounded in battle, his arm hangs limp at his side; but in spite of this physical disadvantage the hero of many European races outclassed the field and sprinted in many yards ahead in the Marathon and cross-country races.

George Andre, a veteran of two Olympic Games and holder of many French records, went through the paces of the Pentathlon, but was forced to bow to younger blood. His career as a track and field athlete, which has probably terminated in the historic Inter-Allied Games, is an inspiration to the younger athletes of France.

Australia and New Zealand, Anglo-Saxon brothers of Americans, were not represented by large teams at the Inter-Allied Games. Those athletes who wore the black shirt and white fern of New Zealand, and the sky-blue suits with the golden emblem of Australia, demonstrated that they had been well coached in the tricks of the game by their showing alongside the Americans. Mason of New Zealand, in his victory over Earl Eby of the United States, proved his quality as a champion in the 800 meters run. Lindsay of the same country showed well in the sprint events, placing third in the finals of the 200 meters dash.

Canada's athletes, too, were similar to the Americans in form and style of competition. The closeness of the two countries has developed many international sporting competitions, which have greatly unified their athletic systems. The few Canadians entered made a good showing.

Roumania and Greece entered in every event. Persistent and plugging, their efforts were frequently noticed by the audience, and the stocky, short athletes stuck to the finish in every race, however far they had been outdistanced. The swarthy-complexioned, dark-haired men from Middle Europe proved they were sportsmen through and through.

Italy's track and field athletics are undergoing the same change that is evident in France. Although they did not break into the point column, the Italians were very observing of the performances of the winners, and the large number who participated in the Inter-Allied Games surely took back to their country a better knowledge of the training systems that pave the way for victory.

The United States army athletes, totaling 92 points, won an overwhelming victory; France was second in the point column with 12; New Zealand, with a small team of champions, scored 6; Australia made 5, Canada earned 4, and Greece captured a third place for 1 point.

Past Olympic Games had prepared other competing nations for the superiority of the American athletes, and the one-sided score was not altogether unexpected. So complete was the victory, however, that from the spectators' viewpoint thrilling finishes and exciting competitions were tempered by the ease with which the blue-trousered athletes bested their less-experienced opponents.

The work of no one individual stood out above the rest. They were heroes, every one, winning every event on the programme but the 800 meters race, the cross-country and Marathon run. Earl Eby bested a strong field in the 400 meters run, and came in a winner a few yards ahead of Philip Spink of the United States in 50 seconds.

Robert Simpson of Missouri, the world's record holder in the high hurdles, won both hurdle events with the ease that has gained him a world-wide reputation. Fred Kelly of California was right behind him at the finish of the 110 meters high hurdles, and W. F. Sylvester and Meredith House pushed him in the low barriers.

The 1,500 meters run was a clean victory for Clyde Stout of the University of Chicago. Matched against the pick of eleven nations, the tall Chicago runner left the field at the last turn and came in ten yards ahead of Henri Arnaud, the French champion and record holder. La Pierre of Canada finished third.

The field events showed even more plainly the superiority of Yankee athletes. With comparatively little effort, and the same nonchalant ease of motion, the lithe-limbed Americans made a clean sweep of nearly every field event. Far beyond the small national flags which marked the distances of jumpers or weight throwers, three star-spangled pennants invariably waived.

Three American relay teams captured first place in the 800 meters, 1,600 meters and medley relays. The United States tug-of-war team won the championship by a clean sweep of victories. Matched against the heavy Belgian eleven in the finals, the Yankee giants made short work of the first bout, pulling the Red, Black and Yellow athletes over the line in 14 seconds. Not by clever trick work was their victory accomplished, but by the powerful pulling of a strong team of husky soldiers.

King Nicholas was one of the greatest enthusiasts at the games. He was so impressed with the achievements of many of the athletes that he decorated them with high Monteneg in honors. The first photo shows Sol Butler, the famous Dubuque College sprinter and jumper, being decorated, and, at the right, Jud House, the Pacific Coast hurdler, is receiving his award.

The adaptability of the Americans was proved in the hand grenade throw, a new event on the athletic programme. Three Yankee soldiers took the honors from the pick of eight other nations, who have been practising the hand grenade throw for the past five years. The winner was an army chaplain, F. C. Thomson, an all-around athlete, who holds the present record.

There were no world's records broken during the meet, and that fact is not surprising. For record breaking performances, a seasoned track is a prerequisite. The Pershing Stadium, while ideal as a running course, was built in a hurry and was not up to record breaking standards. With time and proper attention, however, this track promises to be one of the fastest in the world. Following are the summaries of the track and field events:

PENTATHLON.

The Pentathlon, or all-around championship, was decided on Tuesday, July 1, the five events on the programme being: 200 meters dash, running broad jump, 16-pound shot put, discus throw and 1,500 meters run.

Eight athletes, representing four countries, entered the events, and Legendre of the United States eventually won the competition, scoring a total of 461 points. He took first place in the 200 meters dash and the running broad jump; second place in the shot put and discus throw; but lost considerable points in the long 1,500 meters race by taking only fifth place. Vidal, also of the United States, took second place, while Andre, that hero of French athletics, took the third honors. The results follow:

PENTATHLON—Legendre, United States (461 points), won; Vidal, United States (431 points), second; Andre, France (399 points), third; Blades, Canada (387 points), fourth; Salvi, Italy (371 points), fifth; Norman, United States (342 points), sixth; Costa, Italy (265 points), seventh; Gaillard, France (232 points), eighth.

BOXING AND WRESTLING.

Ten of the Allied nations which entered the Inter-Allied Games had a list of entrants in the boxing tournament. From the start Australia's string of fighters loomed up strong on the fistic horizon and was a favorite. France, with a strong string of veteran entrants, had counted on winning out. The United States entered its list of A.E.F. champions with a few substitutions. Belgium and Italy both entered strong teams.

Right at the start it is appropriate to state that boxing more than held its own with the many varieties of sports decided at the stadium. On several occasions the boxing and wrestling matches had to be sandwiched in between other events, and invariably the ring battles held the monster crowds in their seats.

The fact that five of the seven boxing events were taken by amateurs or army products is a fine boost for the Inter-Allied tournaments. Taking the boxing programme from the bantamweight class up, the winner, "Digger" Evans of Australia, showed rare form in his battles. Babe Asher, the United States representative, was unfortunate to draw Evans in the first round and of course was eliminated, but not before putting up a wonderful battle.

Close to 15,000 spectators viewed the biggest boxing show ever staged in the Army of Occupation when Jack Kooer and "Kid" Murray, both of Philadelphia, battled for seventeen rounds at Clemenz Platz, the old German drill grounds. Murray won by a knockout in the seventeenth round. The affair was promoted by E. W. Brannon of the Y.M.C.A., and Capt. Frank Silverman of New York City was the referee.

THE BIGGEST BOXING SHOW STAGED IN THE ARMY OF OCCUPATION.

In the featherweight class, Louis De Ponthieu of France was the victor. The Frenchman was one of the two professional boxers to win his title, but he had to fight three hard battles to gain it, Johnny Fundy of Pittsburgh meeting him in the finals.

Coming down to the lightweight class, we find Benny McNeill of Philadelphia the title winner. McNeill was the other professional boxer to win out in the meet. In the final on July 4, McNeil met the classiest fighter of the Australian army—Watson—who was highly touted as a sure winner. The two lads battled furiously for ten rounds, McNeill being given the decision by the judges.

In the welterweight class, another high class performer was the victor, Joe Attwood of the Canadian army, winner of the King's trophy in England, being the lad. Attwood showed great form. In the preliminary round he eliminated Tom Storey of the United States team after a tough mill, and in the semi-finals Attwood was forced to box an extra round before he was declared victor over Prunier of France.

The middleweight class possessed some excellent material, but one of the best fighters was unable to appear in the finals, Marcel Thomas, the French representative, badly injuring both arms in the earlier battles. He was to have met Lieutenant Eagan of the United States, but was unable to go on, Eagan winning by default.

In the light heavyweight class final, Pettibridge, Australia, was beaten by Spalla, an Italian amateur.

In the heavyweight class, won by Bob Martin of America, there was one other boxer of note—Captain Coghil of the Australian army—who had made quite a reputation back in the Antipodes. Martin engaged in two battles, stopping Journee, a French boxer with quite a reputation, in three rounds, and then against the clever Australian, Martin won in less than a round, with a crashing right cross to the chin.

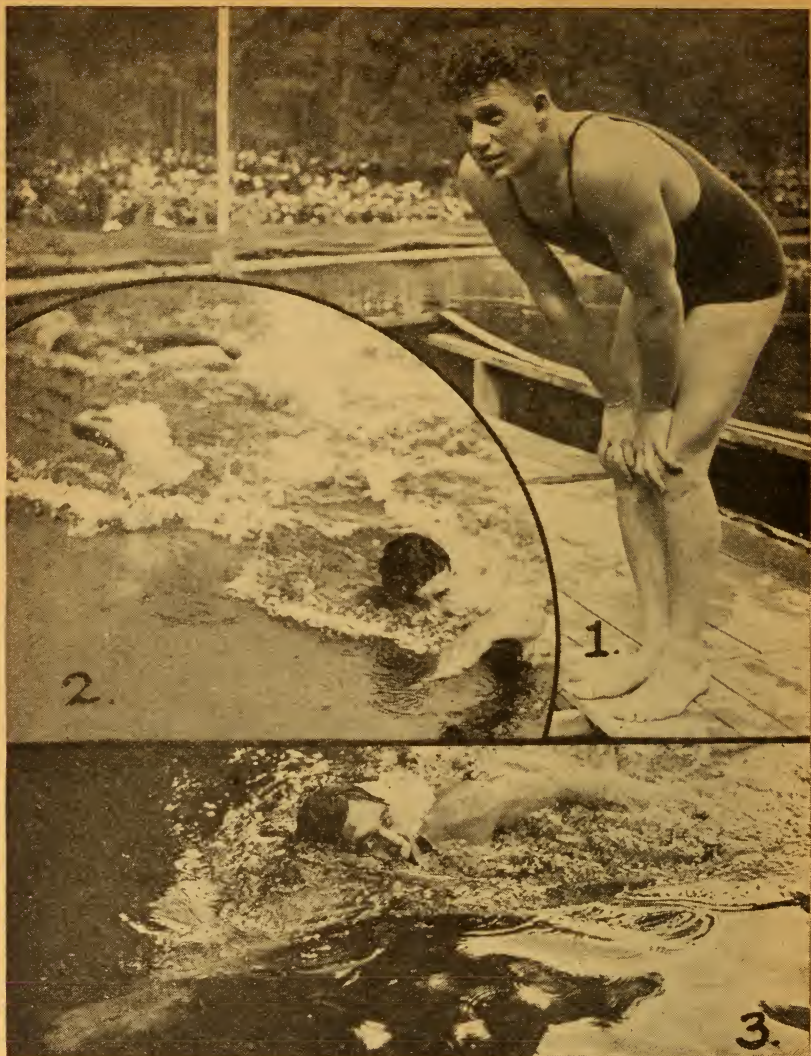

America won the tournament with three firsts, while Italy, France, Australia and Canada each won one event in the finals. In the catch-as-catch-can wrestling, America took five firsts and one by default, while France took the heavyweight title. In the Greco-Roman style, Belgium won, while America landed only one event, the bantamweight class. The winners in each class follow:

Lieut. Norman Ross showed himself an aquatic "phenom" by winning every one of the five races in which he was entered. He defeated some of the best swimmers of the world with ease. He not only won the finals but had to win his heats in the various events, and then, on an almost impossible looking job, swam the United States into second place in the relay. Picture No. 1 shows the champion at Lake St. James; 2, winning the 100 meters from Solomons of Australia; 3, finishing the 1500 meters about 100 meters ahead of the second man. Y.M.C.A., Photos.

SWIMMING.

Points scored—United States, 21; Australia, 14; France, 5; Italy, 2.

Nine countries were represented in the various events by their best swimmers, the teams being from France, Belgium, Portugal, Roumania, Serbia, Canada, Australia, Italy and the United States. The course selected was over the fresh waters of the beautiful Lake St. James, situated in the Bois de Boulogne, probably one of the most picturesque swimming sites in which any championships ever have been contested.

The names of such men as Norman Ross, Biddle and Gardner, United States; Bacigalupo and Massa, Italy; Longworth, Hardwick and Solomons, Australia; Sommer, Leru and Rigal, France, and Boin of Belgium, are men whose names, ability and reputation are known throughout the world as being in the first rank of remarkable swimmers.

Without question the greatest individual star of the meet was Lieutenant Norman Ross of the United States Army Air Service. Ross was entered in the 100 meters free style, 100 meters back stroke, 400 meters free style, 800 meters free style and 1,500 meters free style, and by winning every one of these races in which he started set a mark in international swimming that never before has been accomplished. Besides winning these final races he also had to swim in heats and in some instances in semi-finals before he defeated the picked natators of the world. He was also the star player of the United States water polo team, which was defeated by France, four goals to three, Ross netting two of the United States goals. Besides this, he swam the final two hundred meters in the relay race.

Belgium, France, Portugal and the United States were entered in the water polo championship, the men from Belgium eventually proving themselves the champion country at this game. The results of the final in each event follow:

100 METERS FREE STYLE—1m. 43-5s., Ross, United States, won; Solomons, Australia, second; Steadman, Australia, third. 400 METERS FREE STYLE—5m. 40 2-5s., Ross, United States, won; Longworth, Australia, second; Steadman, Australia, third. 800 METERS FREE STYLE—12m. 34s., Ross, United States, won; Longworth, Australia, second; Hardwick, Australia, third. 1500 METERS FREE STYLE—24m. 22 3-5s., Ross, United States, won; Hardwick, Australia, second; Bacigalupo, Italy, third; Springfield, Australia, fourth; Morris, Australia, fifth. 100 METERS BACK STROKE—1m. 31 2-5s., Ross, United States, won; Gardner, United States, second; Leru, France, third. 200 METERS BREAST STROKE—3m. 24 2-5s., Sommer, France, won; Biersack, United States, second; Hallard, France, third. 800 METERS RELAY—10m. 11 1-5s., Australia (Hardwick, Steadman, Longworth, Dexter), won; United States (Ross, Hinks, Biddell, Gardner), second; Italy (Bacigalupo, Costa, Massa, Frassinetti), third. ## AMERICAN FORCES IN GERMANY ATHLETIC CARNIVAL, 1919

TRACK AND FIELD.

Held at Oberwerth Island in the Rhine River, September 19 and 20, 1919.

The finals of the American Forces in Germany Athletic Carnival developed into two-angled competitions—a fight between the Americans and British, and contests between athletes of the various companies of the American Forces. The spectators packed the stands of the "Insel Oberwerth" athletic field and withstood the unpleasantries of a drizzling rain for nearly four hours to witness the games.

On the track the British runners and sprinters had things about their own way, placing first in hurdles and all running events, but their victories were counterbalanced by Yanks in field numbers when they won everything except the broad jump. In the company competitions of the American Forces the Machine Gun Company of the 8th Infantry scored 41 1-2 points, taking first place by a big margin. The Quartermaster Corps athletes were second with 21 points, while Headquarters Troop was third with a score of 16.

The Americans scored a victory over the British in the finals of the swimming races, which were held at the "Y" tank, taking all first places, although in many events the British mermen swam close seconds and at all stages caused the winners to extend their utmost energies. The big two-day athletic programme came to a climax with the best fight card that had been staged by army fighters for many weeks.

General Henry T. Allen, commanding the A. F. in G., attended the sports carnival and boxing finals and evidenced great interest in the various competitions. The General is an exceptionally keen boxing and base ball fan. Lew Riess of the Y.M.C.A. athletic department, who handled the boxing and wrestling bouts, deserves unstinted praise for the excellent manner in which he staged the shows. Colonel W. W. McCammon and Major L. R. Boyd, who acted as referee and assistant referee, were also very much on the job in their official capacities to see that everything ran smoothly. The summaries:

specifications.

No. 153. Spalding "Official Olympic" Javelin. . . . . Each, $7.50

SPECIAL NOTE—Specifications in the Official Rules covering Javelin throwing are such that in complying with them the Javelin is necessarily quite frail; hence, if it is not thrown with the proper degree of skill it is easily broken and this through no fault of material or workmanship. We are unable, therefore, to guarantee Javelins against breakage while in use.
We guarantee only against defective material or workmanship, and in 95 cases out of 100 where a Javelin shaft is broken we have found it was the result of faulty manipulation or awkwardness on the part of the performer.

IN TRACK AND FIELD SPORTS

Spalding implements are pre-eminent. From the running shoes for Olympic winners to the missiles of weight throwers, Spalding goods are always in evidence when championships are won or records made.

Ruling bodies in track and field athletics certify to Spalding Quality in the recognition of Spalding implements for use in Olympic and championship contests.

Don't be led astray by the false cry of cheapness and "just as good." Remember that superiority in competition is the result of Quality in equipment.
