Ryun's 3:51.1, Wilson's 17'8" New Records

by Bert Nelson

Bakersfield, Calif., June 22-23--Paul Wilson and Jim Ryun, who shared super-stardom as high school juniors back in 1964, reached new plateaus of effectiveness in the 79th national AAU title meet as they fashioned global bests in the pole vault and mile run.

The 17'8" sky climb was the first world record for Wilson and represented a distinct breakthrough as the 19-year old sophomore had missed all but the last month of the outdoor campaign. Ryun's 3:51.1 was his third world mark, and a bare fifth of a second better than his accepted record, but it, too, was a breakthrough as Jim, sans rabbit, led all the way.

Ed Burke hammered 235'11" for a national record and second on the all-time list, Wade Bell claimed a collegiate record of 1:46.1, and meet records fell or were equaled in half the events. But the big talk, naturally enough, was of the mile and the vault, although a dramatic sprint showdown produced plenty of conversation, from competitors as well as spectators.

The big mile was not at all unexpected. The pre-meet press was strangely quiet on the subject, and Ryun was not sticking his neck out. But it was his best opportunity, and quite likely his only chance under good conditions, remaining this year. Favored with an easy heat in the ho-hum time of 4:07.5 and by good running conditions, the young Kansan decided to go for the record 30 minutes before race time, after he finished warming up.

In a championship race it is every man for himself. Ryun recognized the fact and created the first excitement when he leaped into the lead at the gun. From then on it was Jim against the clock as the rest of the field, devoid of hopes of winning, trailed rather closely in a tight pack. At first it didn't seem as if Ryun could defeat the inexorably ticking watch. His first go-round took 59.0 and he was 1.1 seconds behind his Berkeley pace. He still had a chance, of course, but it seemed lost when the second quarter consumed 59.9 seconds. Now he was a big 3.4 seconds behind, and instead of being towed for two laps he had done all the work. Still, Ryun strode on, hoping for a good if not record clocking. At the gun he had made no progress, running 59.7 for 2:58.6 against 59.8 and 2:55.3.

But Jim Ryun is something else again and he proved it once more at this point. Galvanized into action at the report of the pistol, Jim abruptly increased his narrow lead. Now he was all out and the record happy crowd cheered him on. A world record was impossible, but Ryun has had some good last laps and a good time definitely was in sight. All the way down the back stretch and around the curve the determined 20-year-old poured it on. Entering the long home run it seemed time to falter. It would take a 52.7 lap to tie the record and no one could cover ground that swiftly. Jim proved otherwise as he moved strongly and without hesitation toward the string and more glory. One of his many strengths is the ability to move well, without losing form, when tired and he displayed it once again. Only in the last 10 yards did he pause a little in his headlong rush.

Having ripped off a 52.5 last circuit of the crushed brick track, Ryun was home just barely under his 11-month-old record. Everyone knew he would again break the record and a fifth of a second isn't much improvement for a year's work. But Jim had every reason to be pleased. He had done it the hard way. Not only had he made every step of the pace, he had pulled himself out of a hole with a brilliant last 440. Now Jim Ryun was the compleat miler, able to accomplish what has to be done, no matter what the circumstances.

No 1500-meter time was taken, unfortunately, but an unofficial timer from the stands caught him in 3:36.0, a tenth under his American record at Berkeley. Next on his schedule is the US vs. Commonwealth meet in Los Angeles and an attack on Herb Elliott's 3:35.6 record for 1500-meters.

Behind Ryun there was much action as America's new generation of young milers responded to Jim's leadership. Of the 10 in the final only three failed to make lifetime bests, and those by smallish margins. Jim Grelle was one of the trio, but the veteran had raced very little since the indoor season and did himself proud with a come from behind second in 3:56.1, just seven-tenths off his 1965 personal record. Nipped by Grelle was Dave Wilborn, the most pleasant surprise of the race. Thought by many to possess the most natural endowments of any of Oregon's long string of highly successful middle distance men, Wilborn had not beaten four minutes. He ran 3:56.2.

Fourth in another big break through was Tom Von Ruden, who had a big indoor season but fell out of shape. Just a year out of Oklahoma State, Tom ran 3:56.9 to finish just ahead of Wilborn's better known teammate, sophomore Roscoe Divine, 3:57.2. Sam Bair ran 3:58.7 and Marty Liquori did 3:59.8 to rank third on the all-time prep list behind Ryun and Tim Danielson, who was eighth in 4:00.6. Harry McCalla, three years out of Stanford, had a PR 4:00.8 while Ed Dean, Notre Dame class of 1966, was last in 4:04.5, 2.2 slower than his PR.

Meanwhile, the vaulters were on their way up. Eight made 16'6" but at 17'0" the field had narrowed to Wilson, Bob Seagren and Dick Railsback, the three leading contenders. Railsback led the competition, Seagren was second and Wilson, whose only miss was at 17'0", was third. But at 17'4" Paul took the lead as both he and Bob made it the first try while Railsback had to settle for third, as he did in the NCAA when the Southern California Heavenly Twins also made 17'4". Only this time it took more than 17'4" to win for Seagren and the recent world record claimant at 17'7" couldn't quite make it. Bob had three very close and very courageous tries but it wasn't his night.

Wilson achieved his long time goal on his first try. It was a clean vault and there were two or three inches to spare. Paul is the undemonstrative type and might even be termed poker-faced. But when he hit the Port-a-pit he put on the greatest display of unrestrained, exuberant joy I have seen in 35 years of watching track. Wilson leaped high in the air, bounced out of the pit, sprinted up the track, leaped into the air, paused long enough to accept a hug from coach Vern Wolfe, and went on with his ecstasy. Destined to be a world recordman since he made 16'0" at 16 years--the only man ever to clear his age--Wilson finally had realized a dream.

The rest was an anti-climax, ending in failure as the vault always does. But it was still a good show. Still trying, Wilson had the bar hoisted to a new record highest-ever-tried 18'4". On his first attempt Paul got his feet and ankles over and knocked it off with his shins. The second effort was better and this time his thighs brought the crosspiece down. On the last chance he missed his step, dropped the pole, and ran through the pit.

No records were set in the 100 but it was the most talked about event of the meet, both before and after. It was a chips down confrontation between Jim Hines and Charlie Greene, both with 9.1s of recent vintage and both quite sure of their claim to number one ranking. It was a toss-up between the world's fastest humans.

By luck-of-the-draw the rivals started in adjoining lanes, Greene in eight on the outside and Hines in seven. As the crowd in Bakersfield College's beautiful stadium hushed, all eyes on the two giants of the event, the field of eight came to the set position. But Hines was a little too fast and the field was recalled with Hines put into the hole with a false start charged. In a situation which bugs most sprinters, Hines is remarkably cool as evidenced by his 9.1 and 10.0, both coming after false starts.

On the next start they were out evenly. Hines built up a slight lead in the early going but was overhauled by Greene about the midway point. Those who saw Greene blast off from Lennox Miller in the NCAA thought it was all over. But they reckoned without Hines who edged ahead by the barest of margins as they streaked through the tape. The time was "only" 9.3 but it was against a 4.0 mph wind and had the run been reversed in direction it might have been a legitimate 9.1.

The judges called Hines the winner and the fun began. Charlie couldn't believe it. He protested vigorously. He felt the tape, he said, and he knew he had won. The photofinish picture would prove him right. But the picture did not bear out Greene's contention. Neither did it prove him entirely wrong. Taken from Hines' side of the track, the photo shows Hines blocking most of Greene from view. No part of Greene's torso shows in front of Hines' and Greene could not have won. But the photo is hazy in some details and it is impossible to conclude that Hines had a definite edge. A second photo from the other side of the track would have resolved the question. As it was, the photo showed Hines had not lost and the judges who placed him in front saw no reason to change their decision. Taken alone, the photo would show a tie, but it was not to be used alone.

Nor was the photo the end of the rhubarb. Greene now realized he had not won but thought he had tied. And he claimed Hines had beaten the gun. Starter Tom Moore denied it, stating they reacted evenly but that Hines drove harder and created an early margin. And most observers felt the start was fair. They'll have another chance in the Commonwealth meet but Greene will come from Army camp and will be at a disadvantage.

Burke's fine throwing came as no surprise to those who knew he had bettered 240-feet in practice with six straight over 230-feet. The steadily improving Burke had a fine series, including 235'8" and 232'3". He now is a challenger to the world record.

Bell collected his collegiate half-mile record with a now typical race wherein he bolted fast and furiously on the backstretch. He hung a little at the end and Dennis Carr, who had Bell boxed, only to let him out and get a huge jump, closed some but never threatened. Only Ryun and Snell have run faster than this 1:46.1.

Very impressive was Willie Davenport. Off NCAA performances it was thought Earl McCullough and Richmond Flowers might challenge the smooth Southerner. But it was all Davenport as he skimmed to a 13.3 clocking, just a tenth off the world standard, against a 3 mph breeze. He tied the collegiate record. McCullough, who hadn't trained since Proco, pressed Davenport only a little way before trailing home in 13.5 while Flowers got off slowly and, fearing the soft track, decided not to try and pick it up but played it safe to make the Commonwealth team.

Another meet mark fell in the 220 where Hines faced Tommie Smith in his second showdown of the meet. Hines owned the victory of their lone meeting this year but it was Smith's night. Drawing the favored outside lane, Smith came off the curve only a yard back and was able to pull ahead by nearly two yards. It was 20.4 against a wind. A discouraged seventh was Willie Turner who drew the sharp, chopped-up inside lane three times in a row, against odds of 384 to 11.

For awhile it looked as if Lee Evans might not defend the 440 title he won as a frosh. The powerful San Jose soph trailed badly into the homestretch but his strength was too much for a very talented field. He ran a meet record 45.3 as Vince Matthews did 45.6, a resurging Jim Kemp clocked 45.7, and Elbert Stinson ran 45.8.

Two meet marks were set in other throws. Randy Matson was off form and managed a poor-for-him 66'11" but it maintained his perfect outdoor record over challenger Neal Steinhauer, 65'5 $\frac{3}{4}$ ". The discus produced one of the few upsets of the meet, and it was not a big one. Veterans Jay Silvester (195'9"), Rink Babka (195'2"), and Al Oerter (193'2") fought it out to finish in that order. But 10 feet ahead was collegian Gary Carlsen, at 205'10". Carlsen's second-best effort (196'6") also topped everyone else's best. Matson, who owns the best mark in the world this year and who beat Carlsen in then NCAA, sat this one out.

Upsets took place in both horizontal jumps. Charlie Craig outdistanced favorite Art Walker narrowly but consistently in the triple jump, winning 53'1 $\frac{1}{2}$ " to 53'4". And in the long jump the Bob Beamon-Ralph Boston duel went to Boston but the win went to Jerry Proctor, the recent high school graduate. While Boston was bucking the wind he dislikes so much Proctor was jumping a high school record 26'3 $\frac{3}{4}$ ", good for a win by a half-inch. Beamon was third after making the finals on a strange ruling by meet referee Hilmer Lodge. Beamon had two fouls in the trials and his third effort was ruled a foul. But Beamon and coach Wayne Vandenberg protested and Lodge, who had not seen the jump, overruled judge Emil Breikreutz who is widely regarded as the best in the country. Breikreutz continued to maintain it was a foul jump, as did many other observers, including some of the contenders, but Lodge refused to reverse himself and Bill Miller, who would have been third had Beamon eliminated himself, was knocked off the national team.

Del McNabb continued to impress in the javelin with two over 260-feet, including his winning 268'3". A somewhat surprising second, at 261'11", was an out-of-retirement Gary Stenlund while Frank Covelli completed a strong trio by throwing 260'9". Bill Floerke, who said he had practiced at 312'5", finished 14th at 236'0".

Otis Burrell, who hadn't had an outstanding spring season, defended his high jump title by outjumping a still ailing Ed Caruthers and Clarence Johnson as all made 7'4".

The three longer runs were fine competitive races although the record book escaped changes. Lou Scott had an upset going in the three-mile, with Gerry Lindgren struggling to hold on with two laps to go. But Gerry mustered a sub-60 final lap, spurting at the gun, to win in a near-meet-record 13:10.6. Awfully tired afterwards, Lindgren admitted Scott could have had the race had he surged with two laps to go. Bob Day hung close most of the way but his injury enforced layoff caught up with him and he faded to fourth behind a closing Van Nelson. Nelson's turn came in the six-mile the next night. Lindgren passed it up and when Tracy Smith continued to have a rare bad weekend (seventh in the three and ninth in the six) a close race finally boiled down to Nelson and Tom Laris. The latter, who favors the marathon, led off the final curve but Nelson cut him down to win in 28:18.8 as Ron Larrieu finished third.

The steeplechase produced two pleasant surprises behind Pat Traynor's expected win, in 8:42.0. Bob Price of Cal was third in 8:44.8 and young John Mason of Fort Hays State knocked a huge chunk off his PR to register 8:48.0 in fourth. Conrad Nightingale got the second with an improved 8:43.8 while Chris McCubbins ran into hurdle and water trouble and was a disappointed sixth.

Where phototimer pictures were available, non-winning times were adjusted, using the hand-timed winning marks in accordance with the approved IAAF conversion factor. In cases where times differ, the adjusted mark is listed first, with the hand-timed mark in parentheses.
