PLAYING COLLEGE BASEBALL

The Opportunity to play college baseball and Junior College baseball has increased tremendously in the last twenty years. Over 960 Colleges and Universities field teams playing an average of 45 games per season. This is a high average considering your Eastern weather conditions during the Spring. There are over 525 Junior Colleges playing baseball throughout the country

High School baseball in the San Francisco Bay Area, particularly on the Peninsula is rated in the top 10% of all High School baseball played in the country. The weather allows us to play more and longer plus the emphasis put on baseball in this area has helped produce outstanding baseball. It is known fact that California produces more professional players than any other state in the Union.

I feel any boy who can play as a first teamer in the S.P.A.L. is a candidate for college baseball. Here is a list of former Menlo-Atherton players who have gone on to college or Junior College and played baseball. We have had more players play college baseball than we have had in any other sport.
