

THE 69th BIG MEET

1893-1965

SATURDAY, MAY 1, 1965

BRUTUS HAMILTON'S LAST BIG MEET. Today is Brutus' 30th Big Meet, and he has won his share, 15.

Coach, scholar, athlete, poet, athletic director, philosopher . . . "there's nothing the man can't do," a San Francisco columnist wrote trying to cover the breadth of Brutus' vocations and avocations. In this limited space it would be impossible to give an adequate biography of the coach, so we will suffice to say that he is all of these things, and he is them well, and he is more, too.

Another era in the colorful Big Meet history ends today, as eras did in the past when Walter Christie retired and when Dink Templeton retired. Next year's Big Meet battle will be in the hands of younger men and a new era at California will begin.

Fittingly it is the Brick Muller Society that is paying its tribute to Brutus today. Brick and Brutus were brothers of the spirit and the Society in Brick's name could do itself no more justice than to honor Brutus Hamilton.
