

Scots Favored in District Track

Three or four meet records and Carlmont High's pride will be in jeopardy tonight when the annual Sequoia District track and field finals are staged at Terremere Field.

First varsity events are set for 8 o'clock. The meet opens with the junior varsity pole vault at 6 and freshman two-mile at 7:30, hopefully to preclude a late finish.

The field isn't as stellar as in several other campaigns, but the mile, mile relay and pole vault standards are good bets to tumble along with perhaps the triple jump.

Carlmont, champion of the recently completed SPAL dual meet season, figures to get strong competition from San Carlos — if ace Bruce Veal is healthy and his Don teammates approach their top marks.

Steve Miller, Carlmont's junior sensation, figures to crack the 4:23.0 mile standard if he has any kind of race at all. His top time is 4:13.7, among the top half-dozen in the state.

San Carlos' mile relay team, anchored by Veal, has a 3:27.4 season best as a good threat to the 3:28.9 record.

Any of four Carlmont pole vaulters could snap the 13-5 $\frac{3}{4}$ meet standard — SPAL record holder Paul Dempster (14-6 $\frac{3}{4}$), junior Jack Lennen (14-1), Chris Willett (13-6) and Jim Katches (13-6).

Both Menlo-Atherton's Jim Watts and Sequoia's Marlon Murphy will take aim at the 46-2 triple jump mark. Watts has a 45-1 best after only a month at the event, and Murphy has gone 45-7.

Veal has suffered from a swollen knee recently, but considerable rest might enable the junior Don ace to take first in the 180 low hurdles, long jump and 440.

The Vela-Murphy low hurdles race may be among the evening's best; Veal has a 19.6 and Murphy a 19.9.

The 100 is wide open among a non-distinguished field, but Ravenswood's Joe Prince (22.3) is a solid 220 favorite if he avoids his frequent false starts.

The 880, two-mile and 120 high hurdles, where Watts and Ervin Brown of Carlmont are the favorites, ought to offer good competition if not great times. Brown is expected to challenge Veal's long jump supremacy and perhaps win the high jump.

The shot put is virtually the exclusive property of Carlmont's Paul Brandow (56-7) barring tremendous improvement from someone else, but the discus is filled with a half-dozen legitimate hopefuls.

Sequoia, M-A, Woodside and Ravenswood figure to follow Carlmont and San Carlos in the team scoring.

Jim Watts Top Triple Jumper

Menlo-Atherton High's Jim Watts triple jumped 45-0 yesterday to lead all qualifiers in that event in the Sequoia District track and field trials at Terremere Field.

Although recorded during trial proceedings, Watts' mark, along with all other field event marks, carry over to Friday evening's finals at Sequoia.

Other leading field event marks included a 55-4 shot put by Carlmont's Paul Brandow, a 20-1 $\frac{1}{2}$ long jump by Carlmont's Ervin Brown and a 139-3 discus by Menlo-Atherton's surprising leader John Stone.

No trials were held in the pole vault, 440, 880, mile, two-mile and 440 and mile relays; ironically, those events are the strength of meet favorite Carlmont.

Major Surprises In District Track

By MIKE NOLAN
Tribune Sports Writer

Pat Purcell of Sequoia High and Jim Katches of Carlmont didn't just day-dream about winning Sequoia District track and field championships.

They were surprising winners with lifetime bests to join several more familiar names at last night's district finals at Terremere Field.

Purcell ran a sparkling 1:58.7 to win the 880, his first trip under two minutes, while Katches stepped out of his characteristic fourth-man role on Carlmont's mighty pole vault crew to win the event with a meet record 13-9 and take the outstanding field event award.

It was only last week Katches leaped 13-6 in a dual meet and didn't even place, believed to be the first such happening in Peninsula prep history.

Carlmont won the team championship as expected with 108½ points, trailed by San Carlos (60½), Sequoia (41), Menlo-Atherton (30), Ravenswood (28), and Woodside (27). Sequoia's showing was the biggest team surprise.

The rest of the winning field was no surprise, but Ravenswood's Joe Prince began to demonstrate his great potential with a tremendous 22.1 effort in the 220 with absolutely no pressure to the tape. He won by a full second but still ran his life best.

Carlmont distance runners Steve Miller and Carl Cattarin set the only other meet records besides Katches', Miller breezing through the mile in 4:19.4 and Cattarin gallantly achieving a life best 9:28.8 two-mile. They tied for the outstanding runner award.

Sequoia's Marlon Murphy remained unbeaten on the track for the entire season with victories in the 100 (10.3) and 180 low hurdles (20.1).

In the low barriers, supposed to be the evening's best race, Veal unfortunately fell on the final hurdle and placed fifth.

However, Veal joined Menlo-Atherton's Jim Watts as a double winner, capturing a non-pressure 440 in a life best 50.6 and taking the long jump in 21-8½.

Watts came through in the 120 high hurdles, winning in 15.2 to nip Carlmont's Ervin Brown, and took the triple jump over Murphy with a 45-0 leap. Watts has only triple jumped for about a month.

Brown jumped a season best 6-2 to take the high jump as one of the several expected winners.

M-A's John Stone took the discus in an upset, 147-0½, his life best, to climax a season of hard but previously sometimes unrewarding practice. Carlmont's Paul Brandon took the shot as anticipated in 55-4.

San Carlos won the mile relay in 3:34.3 and Ravenswood, anchored by the mercurial Prince, won the 440 baton pass in 44.0.

In junior varsity competition, Menlo-Atherton sophomore Don MacKenzie ran a blistering 51.7 quarter mile and Carlmont's Larry Gullette pole vaulted 13-0 — giving the Scots a phenomenal five vaulters over the lucky 13 mark.

Carlmont freshman Larry Wright high jumped 6-0 for the outstanding freshman mark.
