

Rono's 8:14.8 in Steeplechase Helps Beat Ducks

Scroll to bottom

EUGENE, Ore. (AP)—Sophomore Henry Rono ran the fastest steeplechase ever recorded in the United States in leading Washington State to an 85-78 victory over Oregon Saturday in a battle of collegiate track and field powers.

Rono, a Kenyan who set a world record at 5,000 meters a week ago, ran the steeplechase in 8:14.8, far ahead of second-place Don Clary of Oregon at 8:46.2. The world record is 8:08 by Anders Garderud of Sweden.

Still, the Cougars needed to win the mile relay, the final event, to clinch the victory. Washington State won in 3:16.4, Oregon finished in 3:22.5.

Oregon had pulled within two points, 80-78, when Alberto Salazar held off Washington State's Joel Cheryot and Joshue Kimeto to win the 5,000 meters in 13:37.3.

The pole vault probably was the event that hurt the Ducks most. Oregon's Tom Hintnaus, who has cleared 17 feet this season, passed on all heights up to 16 feet, then missed three times at that height. Washington State's Brian Worden won at 16-6 and teammate Ian Goodman was second at 16 feet.
