

Vike's leap near 7 feet

MILLBRAE — Mills High Coach Ed Parker is not a believer in non-league track meets.

Parker prefers to bring his athletes along slowly, relying instead on league meets later in the year and some weekend invitationals.

So it came as sort of a surprise to see a non-league meet against South San Francisco Thursday on Parker's schedule.

But Parker and the South City coaches agreed not to score the competition, calling it a "developmental meet" instead. Times weren't all that important, allowing both coaches a chance to experiment with people.

Still, there were some fine early season performances especially considering the limited amount of practice time (because of the rains).

Leading the way was senior Mills' high jumper Jeff Novitzky. He jumped a superb 6-11 $\frac{3}{4}$, a mark Parker confirmed with a steel tape (after some people thought Novitzky might be the first 7-0 high jumper in Mills' history).

"He cleared it by an inch to an inch and a half," Parker said. "So it won't be long before he reaches seven feet."

Parker also saw a fine performance from his senior weight person, Buffy Sexton. She threw the shot 38 $\frac{1}{2}$ and heaved the discus 117-4.

Other good marks in the meet were a 13-0 pole vault by Tino Hernandez of Mills and a 147-0 $\frac{1}{2}$ discus throw by Frank Bonifacio of South City.

Aragon 75, Woodside 55

Aragon's Mohu Latu picked up three individual victories to lift the visiting Dons in a non-league meet.

Latu captured the 100-yard dash, the 220 and the discus. Woodside jumper/vaulter Dan Rich and distance runner Scott Cox were double winners.

Mary Manolakis took firsts in the two mile (12:19) and the mile (5:51.3) as the Aragon girls beat Woodside, 80-38. Caroline Windell also won two events for the Dons. Stacy Goggins placed first in the two hurdling events.

Lynbrook-Hillsdale—M-A

Menlo-Atherton had few problems with easy victories in a double dual-meet at home against Hillsdale and Lynbrook. Menlo-Atherton beat Lynbrook, 115-19, and beat Hillsdale, 118-16.

Steve Toney and Roland Anderson each notched two wins in field events. Anderson threw the shot 53-0 $\frac{1}{2}$ and the discus 157-7. Victor Hudson won the 220 (23.9) and anchored two triumphant relay teams.

Jenny Sowerwine paced Menlo-Atherton to two wins by taking three individual wins and running on the winning quarter relay team. Sowerwine, a senior, claimed the 100-meter hurdles, the 330 hurdles and the long jump. Hills-
