Scots (of Course) Lead Qualifying

SAN JOSE — Seven South Peninsula Athletic League teams ran their way into the Central Coast Sectional Cross Country finals in Friday afternoon's Region II runoffs at Coyote Park here.

Carlmont placed three of the seven teams for next Wednesday's CCS meet (varsity, junior varsity and freshman), San Carlos two (varsity and junior varsity) and Gunn (sophomore) and Woodside (freshman) one each.

Carlmont won both the varsity and the junior varsity races, the latter by 46 points after squeezing by Awalt by only five points in the varsity race.

Hans Templeman once again came out ahead of the varsity pack, but his time of 12:50 was two seconds short of the 2.65-mile flat course record, set Thursday afternoon by Awalt's Rick Hart, who placed fifth Friday. Templeman's teammate Steve Miller, a sophomore, was a close second, fishing at 12:52.

However, the most important man was probably Scott Carvey, who placed seventh. If Carvey had come in two places slower, Awalt could have won the race.

San Carlos just made it into the CCS finals in the varsity race, picking up a fifth, the last qualifying place. The Dons came in an easy third in the junior varsity race, but their freshman team, which was expected to do well, took only a seventh, mainly because frosh ace Kelly Lawson ran varsity.

Gunn's Gordan MacMitchell won the sophomore race to help move the Titan sophs to the finals.

Woodside claimed the last qualifying spot for the freshman race, easily outdistancing sixth place Buchser 105-152.

Menlo School reached the CCS finals in the small school varsity race by taking second place.
