from the editor...

I like to think that our sport of track and field is one of the most noble of all sports. Through participation in track one not only gains the obvious benefits of physical fitness, recreation, competition, travel, recognition, scholarships, friendships, etc; but has an opportunity to really see himself/herself. Track involves men against the clock or men against the tape measure as well as man against man. Dishonesty may aid one in beating an opponent, but can not serve as an advantage against the watch or measuring stick(not unless one is able to fool himself).

One form of dishonesty frequently noticeable at all levels of track is the fudging on marks by coaches to gain athletes entrance into limited field meets(big invitationals and championship meets). It's really kinda humorous to know that entry qualification marks and then see many athletes who are definitely below that standard there competing.

A coach who lies to get his athletes into a meet is being selfish and dishonest, besides setting a poor example. Entry standards are set in the best interests of a speedy run, quality meet(preventing the drawn-out all-comers situation). When coaches lie to get athletes in then the field remains too large and the meet management is forced to up the meet standards the following year — forcing bigger lies by coaches to get athletes in up to everyone on a trials basis. California women did this for entrance into the Sunkist Indoor. For example: in the women's 800 meter Francie Lutz, Cyndy Poor and Judy Graham were championship meets). At invitationals the meet management could reserve automatically invited, with the remaining four spots open to the first four at the trials — everyone had a chance to be in the "big meet" and only the best went. This could also generate a larger amount of entry fees.

As I sit here at the typesetter composing this I realize this issue will be about one week late. Our goal each issue is to mail all subscriptions sometime during the first week of the month. This issue should be in the mail on May 14. Don't get on the mailman — it wasn't his fault this time.

Track and field in California is booming, especially the ladies side of the sport. We hope to continue to cover all areas of track in California so have added in this issue a women's junior college state ranking for the first time. It's a start for this rapidly expanding part of track. But, we are going to need more cooperation from the women coaches. We sent a request for marks to every junior college women's track coach in the state but only had a half dozen reply — come on coaches — we are here to publicize and promote your sport — meets (big invitationals and championship meets) is really kinda humorous to know entry qualification marks and then see many athletes who are definitely below that standard there competing.

A coach who lies to get his athletes into a meet is being selfish and dishonest, besides setting a poor example. Entry standards are set in the best interests of a healthy run, quality meet (preventing the drawn-out all-comers situation). When coaches lie to get athletes in then the field remains too large and the meet management is forced to up the meet standards the following year — forcing bigger lies by coaches to get athletes in anyway — thus higher and higher standards. This type of spiraling inflation eventually gets ridiculous. There are cases now where places in a meet are earned at marks much lower than those needed just to get into the meet.

It's tempting to fudge a little (especially when you know an athlete is ready for a better mark and when you know others are doing it) to get our own athletes into a given meet. But in the best interests of fairness and quality in meets and for the good of the sport it must stop.

Another solution would be to have coaches verify marks for meet entrants. Or, still another possible solution that would also allow everyone a fair chance to be in the big meet might be to have trials the day before or several days before the big meet (as is done for some a few spots for the name athletes and open the remainder of the available spots

ON THE COVER: JANE FREDERICK turned to the new pentathlon outdoors for the first time and got off to a great start, running a windy 13.3, throwing the shot 50-2¾ and high jumping 5-9 before a sore foot held her to 18-10 in the long jump. She finished with a 2:24.4 in the 800 for a total score of 4438.

Rich Ede has agreed to attempt a California high school girls ranking for the next issue. It takes hours and hours of work putting together the various state rankings and we are very grateful to our faithful contributors who do the research and compiling in the rankings. Ron Blackwood took a week of his vacation just to get us the high school ranking for this issue. Keith Conning helped Ron with that one by locking helped Ron with that one by locking himself in the library after work and going over tons of newspapers searching for results and marks. Calvin Brown puts out a similar effort with the women, as does Fred Baer with the community college men, and Percy Knox and Peter Mundle with the masters. Thanks MUCH to all of you.

BILL LEUNG, JR.

Nicknamed "Leatherlung" by my college coach I guess I've been involved in track and field since high school. Combining my hobby of photography with my interest in track and field I've been fortunate to have my pictures appear in California Track News, Track and Field News, Runner's World, and Women's Track and Field World. Track photography has been a creative outlet for me and through it I've been able to meet the athletes and the people associated with the sport. At times I may work into the wee hours of the morning to meet deadlines for various publications but I consider it all a labor of love. It makes me feel more involved in the sport and I hope in my way a contribution to track and field.

I'm employed by Dow Chemical as a material technician and currently I'm a senior at the University of Southern California working toward a degree in business with special emphasis in real estate investments. With working full time, going to school and taking pictures, I still find time to compete for the San Diego Track Club and get in my weekly dose of 40-50 miles of running.

O.K., the 20.01 is for real. Now how about the fact that one Mr. Derald Harris is undefeated in individual competition. He'll run whatever it takes to win, matter who is in the race. Needless, say he does not like to lose - at least he doesn't want to try it to see how it does feel. Last year his fear of losing brought him all the way to the California State High School 440 Championship. So far this year he has captured the Invitational 200 meter dash at the San Jose Relays, Brotherhood Games and the Mt. SAC Relays.

don't really know, it's not because I enjoy the training. Track is a lot of fun until you get caught up in the ugly commercialism, promoters, shoe companies, etc."

Coach Henry Lawson is, quite understandably, excited with his young speed merchant, saying, "Derald is an exceptional athlete. In high school his workouts were not challenging. Then he came into our program with an attitude of just running fast enough to please and win. This is probably attributable to his lack of experience. He is very coachable and especially very competitive."

Derald is not yet decided about his academic or athletic future as far as a four year school.

20.01 for 200 meters! That's right 20.01, and Derald Harris is just beginning to see what he is capable of doing in a pair of track spikes. Yes, the 20.01 was wind aided, but a gale it wasn't; in fact, the wind during that particular race (at How many can you find? Hidden in the scramble of letters here are the names of individuals who won an event in the California State High School Meet and then went on to set or tie the world record in the same event or in other events. This does not include members of any relay teams or winners of an exhibition event conducted during the State Meet. There are 19 of them: 3 were state champs in the pole vault, 5 in the hurdles, 5 in the high jump, 4 in the 100, and 1 in the discus. We have gotten you started by circling Smith (for Tommie Smith - winner of the 1963 State 440 title and later to set world records in the 200 & 400 meters. Send us your completed puzzle and we we have a drawing of all those with the 19 total answers for a free one year renewal. We will also print the names of all those with complete correct answers in the next issue.

TRAINING & TECHNIQUE

FLEXIBILITY TRAINING

by VERN GAMBETTA

by GORD STEWART

Gord Stewart is the former Canadian record holder in the decathlon. He has competed internationally in the Pan American Games and World University Games. He is presently running a fitness program for the B.C. Ministry of Health in Victoria, B.C.

VALUE OF FLEXIBILITY WORK

Flexibility training is an integral part of a successful training program. Flexibility exercises greatly assist the athlete in the following three areas: 1) in preparation for training sessions, 2) in prevention of injuries and 3) in technique, development and improvement.

PREPARATION

The body must be adequately "warmed up" or prepared before pursuing specific speed, strength or technique training. A series of flexibility exercises for all the major muscle groups and joint regions along with a slow warm-up run and short acceleration runs should accomplish this.

These activities will increase body temperature, heart rate and circulation. Training activities should then be achieved with greater ease and efficiency region allows for more efficient hurdle clearance. Hip, knee and ankle flexibility, providing more extension in the running stride, enhance stride length. This last factor has obvious advantages in both speed and endurance running events.

FACTORS AFFECTING FLEXIBILITY

Two major factors affect the degree of flexibility or range of movement in a joint region: lubrication in the joint and elasticity of muscle tissue near the joint are both important.

A series of slow stretching exercises, stressing the joints forces synovial fluid between the joint surfaces providing more complete lubrication. This permits either faster movement or movement through a wider range. (this factor should assist technique improvement.)

Elasticity of muscle tissue near the joint is crucial (i.e. flexion at the hip, which is important in hurdling, is largely determined by the elasticity of the hamstring muscles and muscles in the lower back). Individual muscle fibres (which are grouped into bundles and surrounded by connective tissue to make up a muscle) have no ability to stretch. Similarly, tendons and ligaments have little elasticity. Increased range of movement must come from making the connective tissue more pliable. A certain amount of flexibility work must be carried out muscle groups as they are stretched beyond the point to which they are accustomed. Don't overstretch!

Stretch and Relax Exercises should be done slowly and smoothly

They will then achieve the same objectives as the more static (or yoga-like) exercises. Exercises done too quickly become ballistic-like with the attendant dangers mentioned above.

Don't rush

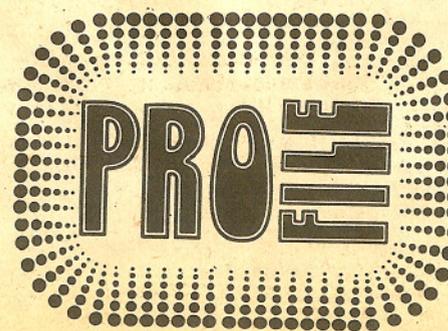

Do the exercises s-l-o-w-l-y. No breath holding; exhale on effort.

Continued next issue: In your next California Track News, Vern will continue with Gord Stewart's discussion of flexibility training by presenting specific exercises for particular muscle groups.

PREPARATION

The body must be adequately "warmed up" or prepared before pursuing specific speed, strength or technique training. A series of flexibility exercises for all the major muscle groups and joint regions along with a slow warm up run and short acceleration runs should accomplish this.

These activities will increase body temperature, heart rate and circulation. Training activities should then be achieved with greater ease and efficiency and less residual stiffness and soreness.

INJURY PREVENTION

Injury prevention is perhaps the most important benefit of regular flexibility training. The athlete who stays healthy and trains regularly has a big advantage over the one whose training is sporadic and injury-filled.

Injuries occur when muscles are stretched well beyond the length to which they are accustomed. Muscle tears or strains take time to heal and often both training and competition must be limited or curtailed to allow sufficient recovery. Flexibility training designed to increase and maintain a wide range of movement in all joint regions and muscle groups should be time well spent.

TECHNIQUE IMPROVEMENT

When technique reaches a certain stage of development improvement can occur through improved physical characteristics (i.e. strength, speed or flexibility). Technique can improve if one or all of these factors improve. Exceptional extensibility of the muscles in the lower back aid clearance in back layout high jumping. Shoulder and elbow flexibility provide a larger effective pulling range in the javelin. Flexibility in the hip faster movement or movement through a wider range. (this factor should assist technique improvement.)

Elasticity of muscle tissue near the joint is crucial (i.e. flexion at the hip, which is important in hurdling, is determined by the elasticity of the hamstring muscles and muscles in the lower back). Individual muscle fibres (which are grouped into bundles and surrounded by connective tissue to make up a muscle) have no ability to stretch. Similarly, tendons and ligaments have little elasticity. Increased range of movement must come from making the connective tissue more pliable. A certain amount of flexibility work must be carried out merely to maintain a given range of movement. Restriction of movement is a progressive process and connective tissue tends to shorten if it is not taken through its full range. (Increasing the elasticity of connective tissue is the factor involved in prevention of muscle tears and strains.)

FLEXIBILITY PRINCIPLES

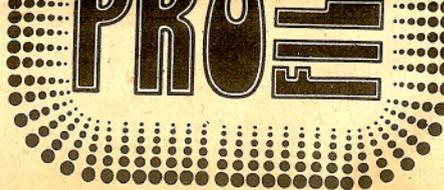

A number of important principles should be kept in mind in order that the flexibility program achieves the desired objectives.

Ballistic Exercises should be avoided:

These exercises are characterized by bouncing and jerking movements. In the short run they can actually cause a decrease in flexibility. In addition, they run the risk of causing not preventing injury. (Pain is the built in mechanism to indicate overstretching. Fast movements may not allow pain to be felt quickly enough to terminate the movement in time to prevent damage.)

Static (no movement) Exercises at the end of range are recommended

The "hold" will gradually impart the elasticity that is needed to accomplish even more extreme positions. Gentle movement in the end position is acceptable. This might cause slight pain in

Kevin Burkin

KEVIN BURKIN: Los Angeles Valley College, Freshman. 19 years old. 5 feet 10 $\frac{3}{4}$ inches tall, 137 pounds. Born March 9, 1958, in Oak Park, Illinois. Also competed for Burbank High School.

Best Marks: 880- 1:55.9(76); One Mile- 4:13.6(76); Two Mile- 9:02.0(76). Coached by Mark Covert.

According to Coach Mark Covert, Kevin Burkin is so far the second top distance runner he has coached. The other being Bob Thomas, while at Glendale College. Covert feels that Burkin is very talented and shows tremendous potential for the future, and should be down to the 8:45-8:50 range for two miles, and 13:40-13:45 range for three miles very soon.

Kevin runs all distances, with no particular preference, except only racing about once per week. His usual racing strategy is to "start hard, run like hell." He peaks once per season, tapering off on his mileage the week of important competitions. Training rules include 7 $\frac{1}{2}$ to 8 hours of sleep each night, also "VERY IMPORTANT: drink lots of coke and Dr. Pepper."

This season Kevin has an eye on making the US Junior Track Team, and longer range goals include going to a major 4 year school, finishing his health major, being on a National Championship team, and possibly going on to coach.

Kevin's participation in track stems from his eagerness to compete, which he plans to do "forever." Kevin credits Coach Covert with helping "with my running more than anyone with his philosophies on running."

Of his workouts Covert says, "He is very coachable, doing everything asked of him, and he firmly believes in the program, logging about 120 miles each week, with two days of intervals. He runs year round seven days a week."

Typical week's workouts(during March): SUNDAY- (am): 18 mile run at 6:10 pace; (pm): easy run- 6 miles. MONDAY- (am): 7 miles at 6:30; (pm): 8 mile fartlek. TUESDAY- (am): 9 miles at 6:30 pace; (pm): 10 miles hard at 5:10 pace. WEDNESDAY- (am): 9 miles at 6:30 pace; (pm): 10 mile fartlek. THURSDAY- (am): 8 miles at 6:30 pace; (pm): 10 miles in tough hills. FRIDAY- 5 miles with striding; (pm): 1500 meter race at 3:59. SATURDAY- (am): 6 miles with striding; (pm): 10 miles at 5:45 pace.

LINDA GOEN: North High School, Bakersfield, sophomore. 5 feet, 2 inches tall; 87 pounds. Born June 30, 1961 in Bakersfield. Also competed for Norris Elementary & Junior High School.

Best Marks: 440- 56.4r(77); 880- 2:09.3 (dual meet)(77), 2:10.2 National Record(77); One Mile- 4:49.5r(77), 4:54.7(77); Two Mile- 10:57.7(77). Coached by Stan Ingram and Gary Kuster.

Linda Goen has had more honors bestowed on her than most runners receive during their running careers, and she is only a sophomore in high school. She was the top female runner in both cross country and track, freshman and sophomore runner of the year 1975-1976, 1976 CIF Central Section cross country champion, 1976 California and Arizona cross country champion, Third at National AAU age-group cross country championships in 1976, 880 and mile champ at both the Arcadia and San Jose Invitationals, second at the 1977 Sunkist Indoor Games in 2:14.4 (same time as the winner). Linda also placed fourth in the 880 as a freshman at the 1976 high school state track meet.

Linda is expected to improve greatly from her '76 state meet showing, but right now she has little time to think about it. In addition to her running her favorite event, the 880, each week she is often called upon to run three or four other races. An example of her performance in one dual meet (4/28/77) Linda ran to win, the two mile(10:57.7), the mile(5:11.5) and the 880(2:15.0), she also worried the winning mile relay team by cutting their 80 yard lead down to 30 yards.

Needless to say her competition strategy is 'run to win,' which she does consistently, regardless of the competition. With the work load Linda does, peaking seems unnecessary since when she srops down to only the 880 and mile it will seem much easier. She hopes to win both the 880 and mile at the state meet this year, and also hold the interscholastic record in both events. As a longer range goal, Linda has her eye on the Moscow Olympics three years from now.

Linda has always enjoyed her involvement in the sport, and syas, "My dad was good in track and I was encouraged by him I have a great coach who has inspired me." She plans to compete as long as interested, and physically able.

North High has two more years for Linda, and as of now she is undecided where she'll go to school after that.

Typical weekly practice schedule: MONDAY- overdistance 6 to 8 miles on hilly pavement. TUESDAY- interval training, total distance 3 to 6 times race distance. WEDNESDAY Pace work, using various percentages of race distances and running repeats at race pace. THURSDAY- considerable taper-off, emphasizing loosening up with some fartlek and sprints. FRIDAY- competition(several races). SATURDAY- One hour run at 7:30 -8:00 minutes per mile pace. SUNDAY- speed work with 220's, 440's and 660's.

Coach Stan Ingram takes little credit for Linda's success, saying "There is nothing special done, as you can see by her workouts. It's nothing any other coach wouldn't have her doing . . . her success is very basic and found in only a select few." Coach goes on to list those basic ingredients found in Linda: 1- exceptional parents, who are "Keenly interested" in their family(Linda has two older sisters who are A-1 in their won right). 2- Linda posses those unique qualities of most outstanding athletes such as: A. fiercely competitive(hates to lose), B. total dedication (willing sacrifices when a choice is to be made between training and something else she'd like to do), C. highly coachable- confidence in coach. D. intelligent, E. not necessarily a trait of all outstanding athletes, but important to her is her faith in God. She is very humble and has accepted her success with admirable moderation, F. unassuming- takes nothing for granted, G. high standards set for self. Within this framework, it is an almost inimitable "drive" within her that motivates her toward those goals she has for herself in track.

Charles Brown

by PAUL ROONEY

CHARLES BROWN: El Camino Junior College, sophomore. Age 21. 6 feet tall, 165 pounds. Born July 3, 1955 in San Antonio, Texas. Also competed for University of Oklahoma (Fall of 75, but was not jumping well enough to make the traveling team).

Best Marks: 1974— 14-6; 1975— 15-15-9; 1976— 16-10¾; 1977— 17-2½. Coached by Dick Tomlinson.

Charles Brown, El Camino pole vaulter, began this track season with only two goals in mind. He wanted to achieve consistency in his vaulting and to break the existing Junior College national record in the pole vault.

Brown, with three-fourths of the track season completed, appears well on his way to achieving his first goal of consistency. He started the season with a leap of 16-6 and proceeded to vault no less than 16 feet in any meet this year.

Brown's second goal, breaking the national record, materialized first in El Camino's home dual meet of the season with Pasadena. On his third and final attempt, he cleared the bar and established a new national record of 17-1½. Then on April 28, he upped his new record by an inch to 17-2½.

Brown is quick to cite the major factor in his success in the pole vault. "I owe it all to my field coach Dick Tomlinson. He helped me with my technique and especially my mental attitude, which is very important in the vault. Also, he introduced me to Steve Tomlinson not only coached Brown but talked him into coming to El Camino. Brown was living in a suburb of Oklahoma City, and attending the University of Oklahoma on a track scholarship. "I was not jumping well in my first semester at Oklahoma when I met Steve Smith, former Olympic pole vaulter, and he referred me to coach Tomlinson. The fact that Smith had received help from Tomlinson and the fact that Tomlinson was acknowledged as the best field event coach in the country prompted me to come to El Camino," Brown explains.

Brown made the move from Oklahoma to El Camino in the spring of last year, and in his first semester under the direction of Tomlinson, he captured the state pole vaulting championship. Brown also recorded the best jump in the nation for junior colleges in 1976, leaping 16-10¾.

Next year it's on to UCLA, where he has signed a letter of intent. New Bruin field event coach Jack Kiefer was Charles' head track coach last year at El Camino.

Brown first got the notion to pole vault while viewing the 1968 Olympic games and the efforts of Bob Seagren. "I built a pit in my backyard and began vaulting with a bamboo pole. I began my serious effort in pole vaulting when I entered high school," Brown recalls.

The Olympics were instrumental in Brown's beginning in the sport but it does not serve as a motivational device for him to work harder in the hopes of comes around and I am ready, I will go for it. I find my motivation in jumping as high as I can, improving, being competitive and most of all from my enjoyment of the sport," Brown explains.

Brown prefers to take each meet one at a time, but did say he was looking forward to the National AAU meet at UCLA at the end of the season, where he will compete against the best pole vaulters in the world," he says.

Training schedule: MONDAY- ¼ mile plus stretching, 10 pole runs, 6x165. TUESDAY- ¾ mile + stretch, 7 pole weights. WEDNESDAY- ¼ mile + stretch, 7 flying 75 yard sprints, gymnastics. THURSDAY- ¾ mile + stretch, 7 pole runs. FRIDAY- ½ mile, 3 easy 100's, easy bar drills. SATURDAY- compete.

ANDRE LAMAR PHILLIPS: Silver creek High School, San Jose — senior. Age 17. Six feet, one inch tall; 165 pounds. Born September 5, 1959 in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. Also competed for Quimby Oak Junior High.

Best marks: 1976— 330 yard low hurdles- 36.4; 120 yard high hurdles- 14.3; 440 yard dash- 49.2; high jump- 6-6. 1977— 440 yard intermediate hurdles- 53.4; 330 yard intermediate hurdles- 37.1; 330 yard low hurdles- 38.0; 120 yard high hurdles- 14.2; 220 yard dash- 21.3; 440 yard dash- 49.5; long jump- 22-5. Coached by Frank Slaton.

Adjusting to the intermediate hurdles, from the high school 330 low hurdles, will not be a problem for Andre to cap his high school career with, "a gold medal in the CIF State Meet and another in the International Prep meet in Chicago, Illinois." Last year he placed fourth in the California State Meet.

For the remainder of 1977, his favorite race is, understandably, 330 lows, of which he says, "I don't use any special competition strategy — just run my own race which usually gets me there first." He especially enjoys participation in track and field because, "It proves how physically fit I really am." Important to Andre are eight hours of sleep a night plus lots of bananas and oranges each day.

Andre doesn't mind setting high goals for himself. He firmly believes, "You can accomplish your most desire-

KEEPING TRACK

Bob Rush, coach at San Mateo JC, has invented an interesting gadget. It's a type of stopwatch with a printout that can time every runner in a race and have the printout immediately after the last runner crosses the finish line. He demonstrated it for us at a recent meet and planned to give it the "big test" at the Bay-to-Breakers race. He will be marketing them in a few months and promised to have more details to us soon.... Cal State University, Sacramento wanted to bring their cross country program up to par with the fine track team that it consistently puts out, so they hired former Hornet standout, Noel Hitchcock. Noel was just what the doctor ordered as he produced the biggest and best harrier squad in the school's history in his first year. Jim Birnbaum, Jim Howard and freshman Mike Van Horn were consistent team leaders as the Sacramento runners beat such notable distance powers as Humboldt State and UC Davis. Birnbaum finished the season by earning "All American" status with a 20th place showing in the Nationals.

John Brennand of Santa Barbara served as manager for the US International cross country team which

A team of coaches, athletes and medical men are holding what is apparently the world's first major jogging cram course at Sunriver resort in Central Oregon the week of June 5 — June 11. For information contact: Art Blum, 627 Commercial St., San Francisco, CA 94111.....In a recent UCLA dual meet triple jumper specialist Willie Banks recorded what is believed to be the best single-day collegiate double in track and field history — 25-10½ long jump and a school record 55-2¾ in the triple jump." Pasadena City College handed Bakersfield Junior College it's first dual meet loss since 1971. Bakersfield mentor, Bob Covey had racked up 46 straight..... Over 4,500 athletes participated in this year's Mt. San Antonio Relays. This is our country's largest track and field meet.

UC Irvine is offering a week long summer track and field camp for youngsters from 6 — 18 years of age. Application forms may be obtained by phoning (714) 833-6985.....Marilyn Wilkins and John Powell have gotten together and have written a book titled: "Wilkins Versus Powell — A Comparative Study."..... The State Meet for junior college women is scheduled for May 27, at Hartnell College. Miki Gorman was recently pounds. Born September 5, 1959 in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. Also competed for Quimby Oak Junior High.

Best marks: 1976— 330 yard low hurdles- 36.4; 120 yard high hurdles- 14.3; 440 yard dash- 49.2; high jump- 6-6. 1977— 440 yard intermediate hurdles- 53.4; 330 yard intermediate hurdles- 27.1; 330 yard low hurdles- 38.0; 120 yard high hurdles- 14.2; 220 yard dash- 21.3; 440 yard dash- 49.5; long jump- 22-5. Coached by Frank Slaton.

Adjusting to the intermediate hurdles, from the high school 330 low hurdles, will not be a problem for Andre next year. As he moves into the college ranks neither the increased height of hurdle nor distance of the race will be a problem. Infact, his 330 intermediate time this year is even faster than that for 330 lows; and in his first 440 timber race ran a 53.4.

Although he admittedly doesn't peak for special races(as he says, "Just keep working harder all year."), Andre is now pointing toward his season goal and hopes

Important to Andre are eight hours of sleep a night plus lots of bananas and oranges each day.

Andre doesn't mind setting high goals for himself. He firmly believes, "You can accomplish your most desirable goals, as long as you put your mind to it. Another thing is — there is no such thing as luck because luck is a combination of hard work and skill."

As for next year, "I've picked UCLA," says Andre, "They are well known plus have excellent academic and athletic programs." As a physical education major he plans to stay close to sports the rest of his life.

John Brennand of Santa Barbara served as manager for the US International cross country team which competed in Europe last month. John expected hurdles, barriers, and obstacles on the European cross country courses, but ran into his biggest obstacle on the streets of Italy when a Fiat brushed him while on a training run, severing the patellar tendon below his knee. John will miss several months of running training....UC Irvine's Steve Scott claimed the fastest all-time mile by a Californian with his recent 3:55.1. Bob Day was the former California Mile King with his 3:56.4 in 1965. But curiously, California, which is renowned for producing world record holders in many track and field events, hasn't had many sub 4-minute milers. Don Bowken of Cal-Berkeley ran 3:58.7 in 1957 and Bob Seaman did 3:58 after he graduated from UCLA in 1962. USC, which has won more NCAA track and field championships than any other university, has never had a miler break 4 minutes.

Montreal silver medalist, James Butts finds it tough to train with a full time 9:00-6:00 job as a May Co. Security Guard plus a 8:00-12:30 shift in linen distribution at UCLA....Scott Chisam, assistant women's cross country and track coach at UCLA, has been assigned the head job in cross country, replacing Pat Connolly. Chisam, 28, will continue to serve as Connolly's assistant coach in track and field. Coach Chisam(UCLA, '70) competed in track and cross country at Arcadia High School, Pasadena City College and UCLA.
