Basically, these are the ground rules which apply to all T&FN's lists and statistical record keeping.

→ When Cited:

Timing: In open races and relays of two-miles and up (technically over five minutes), times are rounded upward to even tenth-seconds (e.g., 8:45.5 becomes 8:45.6). In meets where photo-timer pictures were available, we adjust non-winning times by the IAAF-approved differential method (behind the hand winning time). This may account for variations in marks you saw elsewhere and those that appear here.

Measurements: Fractions of inches are dropped from the discus, hammer and javelin marks (except when converted from metric, in which case they may get half-inches). Pole vaults, long and triple jumps are measured in quarter-inches. High jumps are also measured in quarters, except where the height originally was taken in meters. These may be converted to the nearest lower eighth-inch. (Shot put marks are also measured in quarter-inches.)

Listings: When two or more athletes record the same mark, they are listed alphabetically. If an athlete matches his seasonal best, only his earliest mark is listed. Exceptions: ~~an indoor field event mark under simulated outdoor conditions (e.g., high jump from dirt take-off) is replaced by an equaling outdoor performance;~~ a winning time takes precedence over a losing one. The 200-, 400- (flat and hurdles) and 800-meter US lists include only those times which are at least 0.2-, 0.4- and 0.8-seconds superior to the athlete's best time for 220-, 440- and 880-yards. To be listed, ^{marks} ~~windy times~~ must better a man's legal best by 0.1 second or more, and jumps must be at least one inch better. The Questionable category often indicates that we lack adequate information to consider the mark legitimate (usually after three inquiries to various local sources)--or we have specific information that tells us something was phony (tho we have not differentiated between the two types). If you can provide more information on any of these marks, we will be able to consider moving them to a legal status.

We accept jump-off marks in the cases of ties in the high jump and pole vault if they are higher than the original... ~~As indicated earlier, indoor field event marks made from dirt, concrete or synthetic surfaces are acceptable for outdoor lists as well as indoor...~~ If an athlete was "disqualified" (Disq), yet his infraction in no way improved his performance, we regard the mark as legitimate. We list his actual place in competition, but all those behind him move up one notch. ~~Most abbreviations are either self-explanatory or defined in the separate sections of this issue~~.. When an athlete competes in a regulation event but less than three competitors contest the event, it's referred to as an "exhibition"... If he enters an event as a non-scoring competitor (such as an open or ineligible man in a college dual meet), we call him a "guest". A (Sp) "special" race is one not normally part of the meet where it occurs (a race for open athletes at a college dual meet). A "qualifying" event is one which advances athletes to another competition. It can also be field event trials which advance men to the final six rounds of competition, and these marks don't count in the finals... We do not designate the open (or largest) division of a relay or invitational meet though all other divisions are noted such as college (CD), university, junior college, frosh and prep if they are not the sole division of competition... r=race run ^{ABOVE TIONS} in sections with the over-all placing indicated; '=-foreigner not eligible for US international teams but a regular competitor in the States; H=heat; QF=quarter-final; SF=semi-final; w=wind-aided mark; (-)=best legal mark in horizontal jumping competition where place was determined by a windy jump; dnf=did not finish; y=yard or mile time, not converted to metric; t=tie. =time enroute to longer distance race; m=110-meter high hurdle time included in yard list; Fr + /F=freshman competing on varsity team; frosh and junior college and prep marks accepted on a September 1 through August 31 basis, not the calendar year of 1968.

actual placing in section indicated (not competitor placing)

Indoor list: ~~we accept all foreigners who compete in the US at anytime (which does not apply to the outdoor list)~~. Classifications for indoor running events from the 300 to three-miles: a--12 laps or more, banked or unbanked; b--9 to 11 laps unbanked; c--11 laps banked; d--8 or fewer laps unbanked; e=10 or few laps banked.
