Murph is coming back fine, a little sore. Beckman has knee that may keep him out this week but was No. 6 man at time. SCC is awesome for JC, Whitaker (soph from Spokane) running great, broke course record by almost a minute at Mt. Hood. This is much slower, less active, start than usual for Cougs. If frosh ~~■~~ hold up and Beckman comes back, they'll be tuff....

P.S.

Was slightly amused by the article accompanying John Wenos' dual meet rankings. It wasn't necessary for him to remind this isn't ~~n~~ based on "who beat whom." Oregon State ranked fifth with 777 ~~xxx~~ points and Washington State and Washington ninth and 10th, more than 100 points behind. But both whipped the Beavers and Washington did it in Corvallis. Don't recall any ~~xxxx~~ important Beaver absences at Pullman..... Will agree with his WSU-Washington rating however: 667.1 to 667.0; that's about how far apart they were.
